

CANADA'S REACTION OUTBREAK OF WAR

In 1914 the people who protest are mostly young men, white and religious. They're so excited and happy to have war, cheer after cheer from the crowd of people who had waited long anxiously for the announcement of Great Britain's position in the present conflict in Europe.

Pro-war crowd was took place in Aug 5, 1914, Toronto. So many men protested, women's were very few. They sing songs about Britain, and they're very happy. They had a poor states, war created jobs.

Anti-war crowd was on Vancouver Oct 2001. That time people don't want war. They protested for peace. The people say a demonstration on Sunday, also at the Vancouver Art Gallery, attracted about 200 people.

Canada's Reaction Outbreak of war is geometrically different from 2001. Christian people wanted to protect their family and country. In 2001 they show a bird dove for peace.
